Lithopaedion is an exceedingly rare entity in the modern era of medicine. Since the earliest case discovered in 1582 in France, less than 300 cases of lithopaedion have been reported. It is a rare event that occurs in 0.0054% of all gestations. About 1.5-1.8% of the abdominal babies develop into lithopaedion. The condition of having a stone baby is scientifically called as lithopaedion. When an abdominal pregnancy is terminated, naturally and the dead foetus isn't expelled or is too big to be reabsorbed, the tissue will start degenerating in the mother's body which can lead to infections. But due to the evolution in medical the condition is going to become rarer, in most women who have an ectopic pregnancy physicians locate and remove it. Its unclear why the calcified sac did not irritate the woman until today, there are no fixed symptoms for it, and it is usually detected when investigating abdominal pains and irregular bleeding or as an accidental finding which include urination problem, bulges in the abdominal, pressure on the bladder etc., The fetal death occurs in 3 to 6 months in 20%; 7 to 8 months in 27% and full term in 43% of cases previously reported in literature. According to German physician who studied the literature of numerous reported cases of lithopaedion, it can be divided into 3 types; lithokelyphopedion, lithokelyphos, lithopaedion.

Haemostatic Patch
Gauthami Bingi

Haemostasis results from complex interplay of factors involving blood vessels, platelets and coagulation factors. Haemostatic agents are commonly employed to assist with the control of bleeding. Absorbable hemostatics arrest bleeding either by the formation of an artificial clot or by providing a mechanical matrix that facilitates clotting when applied directly to the bleeding surface. Haemostatic patch is made up of cotton and gauze. Cotton is dipped in a paste of kaolin. Kaolin is a clay mineral known for its capabilities to induce and accelerate blood clotting. Contact between kaolin and blood immediately initiates the clotting process by activating factor XII of the clotting cascade. This reaction leads to the transformation of factor XII, factor XI, and prekallikrein to their activated forms. In addition, factor XII can activate prekallikrein even without kaolin, but kaolin presence markedly enhances the rate of activation. The activation of both factor XI and factor XII leads to the rest of the coagulation cascade. It also consists of turmeric which acts as natural antibacterial agent.

Air pollution occurs when harmful or excessive quantities of substances including gases (such as carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide, sulphur dioxide, nitrous oxides, methane and chlorofluorocarbons), particulates (both organic and inorganic), and biological molecules are introduced into Earth's atmosphere. Long-term exposure to polluted air can have permanent health effects such as: Accelerated aging of the lungs, loss of lung capacity and decreased lung function, development of diseases such as asthma, bronchitis, emphysema, and possibly cancer shortened life span. Pollution Masks: Face masks that filter out airborne particles can make a big difference in your exposure to air pollution. A mask with a high quality filter that fits properly can be an effective measure against the inhalation of harmful pollutant particles as small as PM 2.5. Preparation of mask: This mask is prepared by dipping in the desired ingredients such as talc, silica gel ect, to absorb the air pollutants. Conclusion: Mask can be prepared by pre treated Talc, silica gel etc., which ensures healthy activity of human being. The prepared mask is economically cheap and easy to use.

For people or patients dependent on medical assistance, there are very less devices available to overcome that need. Now proposed device assists patients to overcome this dependence and avoids medical adherence especially in geriatrics. Device reminds at specific intervals and alters patients by means of sound and digital display of drug name. Device can be useful to all patients and easy to use. This device helps to avoid people/patients to depend on others to follow the medication chart correctly without skipping any dose or without doubling the dose of any drug.

Water is the most important element on this planet and to human life as well. But to be able to consume this water, it has to be in its mineralized and microbe-free form. So, for this purpose we started using Water Purifiers. The conventional water purifiers that we use mostly demineralize the water (RO, UF, and MF) but are able to kill the microbes efficiently by UV radiations produced by the UV chamber. the main problem here is the uv radiations and demineralisation which makes water nothing beneficial to us. so, the idea here is to make water microbe-free and make it retain minerals as well. this can be achieved by using copper metal in place of UV chamber to kill microbes. copper is a potent antimicrobial and it is also a metal which helps water retain and regain its minerals. as it does not release any radiations, it is human-friendly and a cost effective option.

Microorganisms play an important role in the recycling of agricultural wastes. The compost generated by bioconversion of agro residues offers several benefits such as enhanced soil fertility and soil health which can lead to increased agricultural productivity, improved soil biodiversity, reduced ecological risks and a healthier environment. These virtues make composting an ideal option for processing of the enormous quantities of agro wastes that are generated in the world. Recent reports also indicate multifarious uses of bioaugmented compost as carrier for bioinoculants, biocontrol agents for diseases suppressiveness and bioremediation. There is definite need to intensify research on novel effective microorganisms to prepare high quality compost in a relatively shorter duration and new technologies for large-scale production.

The main motto behind our idea is to decrease garbage wastage at household level. Household level manufacturing of bio manure using day-to-day wastage and sewage helps in minimizing the wastage of garbage. This is done by preparing an underground tunnel, for every house, in which waste is decomposed into biomanure using microbial culture, further used in agriculture to enhance the soil fertility. The synthesized nutrient rich biomanure is known as humus, used to increase the plant growth.

Cigarette filters are mainly to reduce effects of smoking both in active and passive smokers. Passive smoking is the inhalation of smoke, called secondhand smoke (SHS), or environmental tobacco smoke (ETS), by persons other than the intended "active" smoker. It occurs when tobacco smoke enters an environment, causing its inhalation by people within that environment filters used in this are silica gel as adsorbent and activated carbon chips to absorb certain harmful gases in the cigar powder. It is a portable model.

Drug pollution caused by pharmaceutical industries

G.Rithesh, CH.Manoj kumar reddy and Uday Bhasker

The project is about Drug pollution which is especially occurring in Hyderabad. The case study of Edulabad has been represented in a chart format. The Drug pollution in Edulabad is been in red alert since 2000, right when all the fishes in the lake are found dead. The ecosystem of the lake is completely disturbed and in 2017 it has been reported that many people in Edulabad is been affected by super bugs (the bacteria which got resistant by antibiotics which are disposed from pharmaceutical industry). The paddy field in Edulabad has been completely disturbed in such a way that the paddy only contains husk not the grain. One of the best way to take out drugs from the water in adsorption phenomenon. The Activated charcoal which has been the best way of curing the people who took poison with its adsorption nature. The same phenomenon has been used in our project to take out the drugs from the water. The activated charcoal has the vast surface area which is the prime requirement of adsorption.
